

Sacramento Valley rice fields are unique: Water Efficient and Environmentally Friendly

40%
of water used to grow rice gets recycled

Water use fact

Rice uses roughly the same amount of water as other crops grown in the region

Flowing to neighboring farms to help irrigate different crops

Traveling to wildlife refuges for reuse

Continuing downstream, returning to the environment